

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An image display apparatus with pixels where each of the pixels has a light emitting element such as an organic EL (electro-luminescence) element. The brightness of the light emitting element is controlled by the current flowing in the light emitting element. The image display apparatus adjusts the amplitude of the white gray levels in accordance with average brightness of a screen displayed by RGB data.